..."Fondant." be made in a great variety of shapes and sizes. The same fondants are used as for hand-rolled cream centers. For molding in cornstarch the professional has quite a large equipment; but it can be done easily at home with no more than the following: I. Set of plaster of Paris molds on a stick. (Costs 60c for a stick of twelve molds from any confectioners' supply house.) II. Funnel dropper and stick. (Complete costs from 50c to 75c from any confectioners' supply house.) III. A coarse and a fine sieve, and a soft, flat paint brush. IV. Heavy cardboard box-covers, about one to one and one-half inches deep and as long one way as the stick of molds. V. A smooth ruler, a little wider than Cream Centers Molded in Cornstarch: Centers molded in cornstarch keep soft longer than hand-rolled ones, are easier to coat with chocolate, and can Chocolates and grants Cream Centers Molded in Cornstarch: the covers you are to use as containers. VI. Several boxes of dry cornstarch. (Dry in a warm place for several hours each time before using.) Sift into each box-cover enough dry cornstarch to fill it. Level the cornstarch off smoothly with the ruler (see illustrations facing page 64). Then with mold stick make impressions in the cornstarch, lifting the mold stick carefully, so as to keep each impression clean-cut and smooth. By having several mold sticks, each with a different shaped mold, you can make any number of shapes and sizes. In the illustration facing page 65, various shapes are shown, together with three different designs on mold sticks. The photograph also shows the wooden starch trays that are used professionally. They are quite bulky and expensive, however, and for home use the inverted box-tops will do just as well. When all the impressions are...
